

CHUCK WAGON COOKING SCHOOL

Best of the West – Cowboy and Indians Magazine

Each spring and fall we host our popular Chuck Wagon Cooking School. This is an interactive course that teaches folks the fundamentals of Dutch oven cooking.

Students will arrive to a scene from an old cow camp at a remote ranch setting. Locations vary depending on scheduling but include southwest Oklahoma and northern Texas. All food is cooked at the wagon with Dutch ovens and hardwood. We also offer grilling techniques on our celebrity wood stove, Bertha!

We will cover the basics of Dutch oven cooking to include: breads, cakes, pies, casseroles, meat dishes, etc. We teach temperature control, coal placement and other fundamental Dutch oven techniques for hardwood cooking.

Students from all walks of life attend this cooking camp from outdoor enthusiasts to board members looking for a getaway. Some folks have gone on to start their own catering businesses or just want to learn techniques for cooking for family and friends in the backyard.

While the bulk of the class is cooking related, it is so much more than just cooking. The chuck wagon experience is an opportunity for folks to disconnect and get back to the simplicities of life. We offer a laid back schedule with time for visiting or a stroll around camp. We don't get in a hurry around here because it's a chance to enjoy good food and each other.

What to Expect

You mean other than a good time? We cover a lot of baking including a variety of breads and desserts because they are the most difficult to master in Dutch ovens. We will also cover cooking additional dishes, cast iron care and more. This is a unique experience where students will learn how to manage heat using wood coals.

Factors such as wind and humidity affect Dutch oven cooking and students will learn how to manage the elements to turn out great food!

Since we are in Mother Nature's kitchen, students should keep in mind the unpredictable weather that may be encountered... but we know y'all are tough!
